WOMAN USES A REVOLVER ON FARM HAND IN HER OWN HOME

Mrs. S. K. Bankert Fires Six Shots at Norman Cook, While the Latter Was Making an Alleged Attempt to Cut Her With Razor.

All of the Bullets Take Effect and the Wounds Prove Fatal to Injured Man, Who Dies at 12:15 O'Clock Sunday Morning.

A tragedy occurred at seven o'clock last Saturday night at the home of J. K. Bankert, residing about five miles south-west of this city, which cost the life of Norman Cook, a farm hand, who has been laboring in that community for several months. The affair is somewhat shrouded with mystery, but the fact is known, that Mrs. Bankert fired six shots at Norman Cook, all of which took effect, and caused his death within a few hours.

Different stories have been given as to the cause of the deed, but the one which is most probable to all the neighbors, and which was told by Mrs. Bankert herself is as follows: Norman Cook went into the Bankert home unnoticed by any of the members of the family, and hid himself in an upstairs room. Later on in the evening he attacked Mrs. Bankert, who came up stairs after a lamp, and attempted to assault her. Cook grabbed the frightened woman, but she broke away from him and while almost mad with intense excitement, she ran down stairs seized a revolver and shot Cook, five times with it. She then descended the stairs again and secured another revolver and fired one shot upon the already dying man with that. It seems that in the meantime that Cook had secured a razor and that he fell on it, cutting a deep wound in the back of his head, thus adding to his injuries.

The wounds which were inflicted upon Cook at seven o'clock proved fatal to the man at 12:15 a. m. Although the doctors worked hard with the wounded man, medical aid could not save his life.

He was shot in the hand, in the abdomen, in the arm, twice in the side, and once in the leg.

Mrs. Bankert's story is as follows: "Mr. Cook came to our house Saturday evening unnoticed by any one, and concealed himself in an upstairs room. The hired girl and I were canning fruit in the wash-house, and Mr. Bankert was at work in the woods. It became so dark in the wash-house that we could hardly see to finish up our work, and the girl said that there was a lamp on the dresser in her room, and that if we had that, that we would be able to see much better. We have a gas light in the wash-house, but as that was on the other side of the table from where we were working, it did not make enough light for us to see as well as we should.

"I went to get the light, and as I reached the hall on the upper floor, I saw what I thought was a shadow flit across the door of the south room. It was very dark, and upon looking closer I recognized the form of a man. I did not know who it was at first, but when he spoke I knew his voice to be Cook's. He said, 'Anna, I have been wanting to ask you a question for some time, but failed and now I am going to ask you that question, and I want you to answer in my favor.' I said to him that is just according to what it was, and he became angry at this reply and said, 'If you don't do just as I want you to, I'm going to kill you. I became frightened and told him to leave the house at once. He said, 'I'll leave, when I have killed you, the family, and have set fire to the house.'

"He grabbed hold of me then, and tried to drag me into the south room, but I broke away from him, and ran down stairs, out upon the porch, and told my husband. In the meantime I heard a door slam, and I supposed that Cook had left the house, but to make sure of my safety, I secured a revolver, and my husband did the same thing, but seeing that I had a gun, he laid his weapon upon the mantel in the sitting room. Thus armed, I started up the stairs to get the lamp, my husband following me, and when I reached the top of the stairs, Cook seized my left hand, and I saw a glimmer of something bright in the other. I was surprised at the unexpected attack, as I thought Cook had left the house, and as he pulled my arm, I pointed the revolver at him and fired. I must have hit him in the stomach because he was very close to me. Anyway, he fell, but immediately he crawled to me, grabbing hold of me, he tried to pull me to the floor. I kept on firing at him, and I fired five shots before I stopped, I did not know, whether or not I was hitting him because it was so dark that I could not see. In the mean time he was still endeavoring to pull me down, and when I had finished firing the revolver, I began to pound him over the head with the butt of the pistol. By this time my husband was by my side, and I asked him where the other gun was, and he said it was down stairs. I ran and got it and fired one more shot, when I was disarmed by my husband. During this time Cook was uttering terrible oaths and trying his best to use the razor he had obtained while I was getting the first revolver.

"I can't explain the cut on the man's head, unless he cut himself in falling. I know that I did not cut him. One incident shows me that Cook came into the house to cause trouble, and that is that he locked the front door and took the key upstairs with him. He certainly would not have done this if he had started in the house to make a pleasant call."

"I was almost mad with fright at the time, and I scarcely knew what I was doing. I could see the man struggling there to get hold of me; I could hear his groans, and all this happening in a semi-darkness, caused my reason to get away from me."

"Mr. Cook had always been a gentleman in my presence before, although he said queer things at times. He has often told about killing a man in Connersville, and he said that he had killed three others beside the one in Fayette county. Of course I do not know as to the truth of these statements, but I do know that he said such things as these, although he may have been joking at the time. He also said the other day when he was at our house to dinner, that he had two more men to kill, and that he would not care if he did die then.

"He gave the names of these men, and one of them lives in Glenwood and Cook worked for him a while. Of course he may not have meant this, but I am only saying what he said, and I am telling the truth too. I am sorry to have been forced to do what I did, and I did not shoot with the intention to kill. I thought I was right in everything I did."

Mrs. Bankert seemed perfectly willing to talk, and she said she wanted her statement published, as she did not want anyone to form a wrong opinion from the great number of rumors which have been spread about the county. This story of Mrs. Bankert's is a good description of the course of events as far as they are known to any one, and as there were no other witnesses of the affair besides her husband, the facts as stated are generally conceded to be correct as far as can be learned.

The scene which followed the tragedy was terrible to the extreme. The two upstairs rooms were stained with blood, and Cook was laying in a large pool of blood in the north room when doctors Coleman and Green arrived upon the scene. His bleeding wounds, together with the general condition of affairs in the room, made the scene more horrible in every way. Cook was not conscious after the fatal shots were fired, but at times he would call for water, and once or twice he raised to his knees and shouted "murder" in a feeble and stifled voice. When asked a question he would invariably reply, "I don't know." Thus, under these conditions the coroner was not able to draw any of the facts of the case from the wounded man, and the testimony will depend largely upon the members of the Bankert family and that of neighbors who were in the house shortly after the shooting occurred.

The statement of Mr. Bankert is as follows: "Cook had worked before for me, before he came to work in this neighborhood this fall. He helped me put up my corn on my farm near Glenwood last year, and he had never been in any trouble with any member of the family until last night. He always had a good disposition, but he generally got drunk when he went to town. He had been drinking last Saturday night, and there was no member of my family who saw him slip into the house Saturday night. In fact we have no idea when he came. My wife had been at home all day, and the first I knew of the trouble was when I heard four or five shots fired on the second floor of my house. I do not know how the shooting occurred, but I think it happened between half past six and seven o'clock.

I did not know much about Cook before he came to work for me last fall, but I have heard him say that he was raised at Laurel, Indiana, and that he was an engineer by trade. He has been working all around this neighborhood this year, helping during the threshing season."

"I was not frightened when I heard the shots, for I am not easily frightened. I telephoned the authorities in Rushville about twelve o'clock Saturday night to come and get my wife. I took my wife to the county jail myself the next morning at about four o'clock, as I thought that was the right thing to do. The only reason that I know for the deed, was that Cook insulted my wife and as a result she shot him. Of course I will assist my wife in this case, as I believe she deserves my aid, and that she is innocent of any crime."

Doctors Green and Coleman arrived upon the scene shortly after the shooting was over. They saw that the man was fatally wounded, but they made heroic efforts to save his life. The doctors opened Cook's abdomen and took almost a dozen stitches in his liver. This operation was done under many difficulties. The work was done by lamp light, and Cook was lying in a pool of blood on the floor in an upstairs room while the operation was being performed. The doctors administered heart stimulants, and the wounded man seemed to rally from the effect of his injuries. Cook lived almost three hours after this operation was performed.

The autopsy held over Cook's body showed these facts: There was a ragged scalp wound above Cook's left ear. It was small, and it is thought that it was caused by being hit over the head with a revolver. The autopsy further showed that six bullets had entered his body. One passed through the fleshy portion of the left arm, two inches above his elbow, another ball passed through the back of his left wrist and passed out through the little finger. Several bones in the hand were broken by this shot. One bullet of 32 caliber entered through the middle of the left thigh. It did not hit the bone, and it was found under the skin in the front of the thigh, about two inches higher than where it entered. One ball entered two inches below the sternum and one inch to the right. It passed through the liver and buried itself in the muscles of the back. Another shot entered five inches below the axilla, over the sixth rib on the left side of Cook's body. This shot took an upward course, passing through the lower part of the left lung, and it was found near the sternum.

Another bullet entered directly over the eighth rib on the left side, and was found near the sternum. The cut on the back of Cook's head extended from behind the left ear to the front of the right ear, and the gash was located near the juncture of the hair. This wound was two inches deep, and it was cut to the bone. Cook suffered much loss of blood from this wound and the attending physicians were obliged to sew it up in order to keep the injured man from bleeding to death.

Much excitement prevailed at the time of the shooting, and as the people of that vicinity heard of the tragedy, they came in crowds to the Bankert home. They seemed to be welcome by the Bankerts, and if accounts of the neighbors are true, they were invited to hang up their hats, to come in and sit down. Mrs. Bankert talked of the affair to several people shortly after the shooting occurred, and she seemed to be perfectly calm at that time. But when she spoke of the kindnesses of her family bestowed on Cook, she broke down and cried, saying "this is what we get for our kindness to him."

Not much is known of the Bankert family, but they originally came from Morristown. Mr. Bankert bought the old Jesse Winship farm of John H. Morris last March, and he moved his household effects to this place from his former home near Glenwood. The property of Mr. Bankert consists of 120 acres of land, and a very beautiful and modern farm house. The place makes an ideal home, and the house and grounds surrounding it are kept in a perfect condition. The interior of the residence is finely furnished and the furniture is modern in every respect.

The people who live near the Bankert home seemed to have a good opinion of the family. The neighbors say that Mr. Bankert is a gentleman in every respect, and that Mrs. Bankert has always been an industrious and good tempered housewife. Mrs. Bankert's maiden name was Pierce, and she is a half sister of Willie Stant, a former well known Rushville character, on account of his diminutive stature. Mr. and Mrs. Bankert have two children, boys whose ages are 15 and 8 years. Not much is known concerning Norman Cook, but it is thought that he is about 30 years old, and that he formerly came to work in this county from Laurel, Indiana. Some of the people who knew Cook well, say that he drank to excess at times. Other facts than these can not be substantiated concerning Cook's past life.

Some people are inclined to think that Cook had had trouble in the Bankert family before, and that the shooting Saturday night was only a result of an old feud. This statement is denied by all members of the Bankert family, as they say that the first trouble occurred Saturday evening.

It is said by a counter clerk in a restaurant in this city, that Cook came into that place of business Friday night, and asked if Mrs. Bankert brought in butter there to sell. It is furthermore stated that Cook was looking for Mrs. Bankert in town Saturday afternoon. Thus it can be seen, if these facts are true, that Cook wished to see Mrs. Bankert on important business.

Mr. Cook has been staying with U. S. Maffett for several days, and Mr. Maffett said this morning that he did not see Cook after he had eaten dinner at his house on Saturday.

The whole affair is a mystery, and as Norman Cook was not capable of giving any testimony before his death, the two real witnesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Bankert. The coroner took the testimony of Mrs. Bankert on the night in which the shooting occurred, and he has been hearing testimony ever since. The case is a complicated one, and it will be difficult to take all the testimony.

Mrs. Bankert was placed under arrest Sunday morning at 4 o'clock.

A preliminary hearing was started this morning, but Mrs. Bankert was taken back to jail, and the preliminary trial will be had Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

The body of the unfortunate man was buried in East Hill cemetery at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Cook's daughter, of New Castle, attended, but the sister from Connersville was unable to come.

BY THE WAYSIDE

A Connersville man, who had been accustomed to receiving railway passes and deadhead tickets at the theatres, recently visited the fair at Portland, Ore. When he was confronted with a sign announcing the admission charge of 50 cents to the grounds he was inclined to balk. "I don't like the idea of paying 50 cents to get in there. Wait a minute and I'll hunt up Lewis and Clark, the fellows who are running the show, and see if I can't get a pass."

Charles Applegate has returned to this city from the Lawrenceburg fair, and will locate his pop corn stand on the Chautauqua grounds. Mr. Applegate says that heavy rains fell each day during the Lawrenceburg fair.

A LARGE CROWD AT CHAUTAUQUA

Fully Eighteen Hundred People Attend Opening Number Saturday Night.

Sunday's Service—Teachers Institute Begins Today—Tuesday's Program.

The first annual Rushville Chautauqua opened Saturday night at the city park with a free concert by the Chicago-Lyceum Ladies' Quartette and an entertainment by the Katherine Ertz Bowden, Pictorial Hiawatha company.

The meeting was attended by fully eighteen hundred people, almost the entire tent being filled. The fact that the program was free and that it was opening night, no doubts accounts for the large attendance although it is believed that there will be a good attendance throughout the week, with favorable weather.

Saturday night's program was one of the finest that Rushville people have been treated to for years. The ladies' quartette is a splendid organization and the large audience repeatedly greeted them with loud applause and the celebrated Chautauqua salute.

This salute is a very pretty exercise. It consists of waving the handkerchief above the head at a given signal from the platform. Fifteen hundred waving handkerchiefs made a very pretty sight Saturday night. The concert given by the quartette consisted of about eight numbers. All were exceedingly well rendered. Mrs. Effie C. Palmer gave two excellent readings one of which was James Whitcomb Riley's "That Old Sweet-heart of Mine." Mrs. Palmer is a reader of considerable ability and her work Saturday evening and Sunday has brought forth much favorable comment.

Following the concert, the Pictorial Hiawatha was presented. The views were thrown upon a large screen at the north end of the tent. Views of the lakes, the large lake steamers, scenes in the Ojibwa Indian reservation and moving pictures reproducing the play "Hiawatha" as it is played by the Indians together with an excellent lecture by Miss Bowden describing the play and the story of Longfellow's "Hiawatha" composed the entertainment. Some of the stereopticon views illustrating the story were most beautiful, being gaudily colored and tinted. This number is one of the very best and it was highly spoken of by everyone who attended Saturday evening.

On Sunday morning at 10:30 a praise service was held followed by an excellent sermon by Rev. Bailly.

At 2:30 o'clock the Ladies' Quartette gave a musical prelude, and Mrs. Effie C. Palmer gave several readings. Lon J. Beauchamp, the "Laughing Philosopher" gave his first lecture entitled "The Age of the Young Man."

The lecture was a most interesting one and was heard by a large audience, consisting largely of young men.

In the evening the ladies quartette gave a sacred concert lasting for over an hour. This number was also attended by a large audience.

This morning the county teachers institute in connection with which the Chautauqua is being held, convened. A A down pour of rain prevented a big attendance, but that which was lacking in attendance was more than offset by the splendid session held. The rain interfered somewhat with the program this morning but this afternoon the sun shown brightly. There was a good attendance and everything moved along smoothly. The program for today was:

9:30—Opening Exercises.
10:00—Lecture, F. H. Green.
10:40—Rest.
10:50—Music.
11:00—Lecture, C. A. Prosser.

MANY ATTEND THE BAPTIST MEETING

Interesting Sessions Held at Village Creek Church in Fayette County.

E. L. Kennedy, of this city, who attended the meeting of the White-water Baptist Association at Village Creek, southeast of Connersville, and who was elected clerk of the meeting, says fully seventy-five Rushville and Rush county people were present. Crowds from all over Fayette county and delegates and visitors from the counties of Rush, Marion, Hancock and Franklin came as pilgrims to attend the religious services which marked the anniversary of the organization. Elders Watkins, Mitchell, Ford, Thomas, Thompson, Ed Harlan and Marshall, ministers of churches in the district were present at the assembly and instructed, preached and prayed with the laymen and their families and friends.

In all fifteen ministers attended the meeting during the three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, that the Baptists were in session.

The services began each morning and continued until sundown. After supper, which was eaten, as was also the noon meal, picnic fashion in the grove, the company visited private homes where prayer meetings were held until a late hour.

The meetings closed Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. Elder E. W. Harlan, as moderator of the meeting, is to be complimented upon his able management.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the Second Williams Creek church, three miles east of Fairview in August, 1906.

A SPLIT ASSURED

Norwegians Vote Unanimously For Separation From Sweden.

Christiania, Aug. 14.—The Norwegian people in a referendum taken Sunday pronounced in favor of the dissolution of the union with Sweden with remarkable though not unexpected unanimity. Of 450,000 voters, 320,000 cast ballots. While the full result is not yet known, returns show that about one person in 3,000 voted against the dissolution. The difference between the total number of voters and the number of votes cast is attributable to absentees, such as sailors abroad and others who are out of the country at present.

The weather was favorable and there were scenes of the greatest enthusiasm everywhere. Thousands of women who did not have the right of franchise signed petitions in the streets endorsing the dissolution. In Christiania and other cities the total population turned out, everyone wearing long streamers of the national colors and pictures of Premier Michelsen.

Chester James today received word of the death of Richard Day, known as Dick Day, which occurred last night at a Muncie hotel where Day's mother, Mrs. Lucy Day is employed as cook. Mr. Day formerly resided in Rushville and was employed as barber at the Big Four shop many years ago. The funeral services and burial will take place at Muncie Tuesday afternoon.

GREENSBURG IS DEFEATED

Reorganized Rushville Team Wallops Reds on Home Grounds.

McCord Pitched Wonderful Ball and Easily Pulled out of Several Bad Holes.

About thirty Rushville fans accompanied the local team to Greensburg Sunday and had the satisfaction of seeing their favorites, strengthened by the addition of Omer Firestone, of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Western League team, and "Red" White of the Dayton Central league team, win, in a game replete with fast and difficult plays, rag chewing and faulty umpiring.

Wee little red headed Johnny McCord, who, by the way, is now a very sincere advocate of the "water wagon" policy, was the one attraction and the way he handed it up to his former team-mates was a caution. McCord was in excellent condition and he pitched wonderful ball pulling nicely out of some bad holes that certainly made the atmosphere look black and blue for awhile. The hitting of Prouts and White, the fielding of Firestone Taylor and Condiff and Wagoner's base stealing, were other features of the game.

Umpire Sheridan was, to a certain extent, very one-sided in his decisions. His umpiring of balls and strikes was anything but the right sort. Many times he called high balls, strikes on Rushville batsmen and pretty strikes, balls on Greensburg batsmen. His work caused considerable discontent on both sides; but much more so upon the part of Rushville.

Both of the new men on the team figured largely in the result of the game. They are both there with the goods. McCord's work however was the central feature. In the second inning with Woodruff on third and no outs he struck out Condiff and Waybright after Donner grounded out, Firestone to White. In the third with Hunch on third and Prout on second with one down, he fanned Reggy; Braden flying out to Taylor. In the fifth Mac had Prouts struck out but by reason of some bad umpiring the latter stayed at bat and clouted for three bases. McCord had the Greensburgers completely at his mercy, keeping his hits well scattered and shutting out the Reds for seven innings.

Rushville first scored in the initial inning after Carter and McClellan had been retired. White landed on the ball for three bases, driving it to deep center, just out of reach of Condiff who probably could have caught it had he not misjudged it. Wagner dropped a Texas-Leager into left field around which, Prouts, Reggy, Waybright and Condiff held a short family reunion. Each thought that the other had the ball and it fell fair. White scored. In the fifth, Rushville pulled down another. Taylor dropped a singled into the left garden and advanced a base on Kiser's out. He stole third and scored on a passed ball by Hunch. Another run was secured in the eighth. Carter drew a base on balls, McClellan landed safe at first on an error by Donner. A double steal was the next thing in order and White flew out to Condiff. Carter scoring on the throw-in. McClellan died on second as Wagner grounded out, Reggy to Donner.

In Greensburg's half of the eighth Prout landed upon one of McCord's shoots for a trip to third, and scored on the throw-in after Braden flew out to Wagner.

Score by innings:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E
Rushville 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0—3 6 1
Greensburg 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1 5 1

Earned runs, Rushville 1, Greensburg 1; Three base hits, Prouts 2, White 1; Bases on balls off McCord 1, off Best 1; Left on bases, Rushville 4, Greensburg 8; First base on errors, Rushville 1, Greensburg 1; Two base hit, Waybright; struck out by McCord 10, by Best 4; Passed balls, Dugan 2, Hunch 1; Hit by pitched ball, Donner; Umpire Sheridan. The Prohibition party of Ohio nominated a ticket of its own. It refused to fuse with the Democratic party of that State.

Miss Ellen Stone has returned to Bulgaria. If she is captured again by the bandits, we suggest that the various magazines in this country arrange for her ransom.

The roots of good government are deep down among the good citizens of the country. The citizen who does his best, always and everywhere, is the one who does most to lift up his country, State, county and town.

Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal is announced as an anti-machine candidate for governor of Kentucky on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Watterson may be considered the most distinguished Kentuckian alive, and for nearly a generation he has been a prospective candidate, either for Governor of the State, or United States Senator. It is thought that Watterson is the one Democrat in Kentucky who can defeat the Beckham machine.

Business, and not even the life insurance business is philanthropic, and for this reason the current agitation over life insurance matters will have a tendency to improve the interests of policy holders. The world moves, and competition if not conscience will force the companies to provide for security and efficiency at the minimum rates of premium compatible in an enterprise where results are wholly prospective. It is not only doubtful but may be declared impossible that life insurance can be carried on in the manner suggested by the Chicago Record-Herald when it says: "Life insurance companies, whether managed by stock companies or not, are essentially mutual enterprises. The policy holders pay in all the money, and they should take it all out again, plus interest and less the legitimate expenses of management. In no other sense should there be either profit or loss in the business."

Countless life insurance associations on the mutual plan have come to grief within this generation simply because they promised and aimed to give profit to nobody but policy holders. Those which survive do so because they exist as a feature of association among those who have other fraternal interests. In the business of strict life insurance capital is necessary to cultivate a broad field which will give new blood year by year. A reserve is necessary in order to meet competition and excessive drains, as in the case of epidemic. Capital, no matter who controls it, must make money upon money by a square deal. He offers what the policy holder considers value in exchange for what he himself considers value—the premium for carrying the risk. There are life insurance companies run on this plan that are as good as a government bank, and if there are shaky companies it is not the fault of the system, but of the authorities whose duty it is to make them live up to the laws under which they operate.

A WAY OUT OF IT

Plan Whereby Russia May
"Reimburse" Japan and Yet Save Her Face.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCES

Of the Strongest Character Are Said to Be Working on the Two Belligerent Nations.

By Buying the Japs Out of Sakhalin
a Two Fold Purpose
Would Be Served.

Tokio, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Russians are retiring across the Tumen river and that they will avoid a battle in northern Korea.

Porthsmouth, N. H., Aug. 14.—No progress was made with the peace negotiations over Sunday. The session of the plenipotentiaries which was to have been held Sunday afternoon was postponed by mutual agreement out of reverence to the fact that it was the holy Sabbath, which is universally observed in Russia as a day of rest. The Russians had not been anxious for a Sunday session, and the Japanese took the initiative and through the intermediary of Mr. Peirce it was decided to postpone the sitting until this morning.

It would perhaps not be too much to say that the general feeling is more hopeful in spite of open predictions made by personages connected with both sides of the negotiations that before next Sunday the plenipotentiaries will reach an impasse where a rupture will become inevitable. The pessimistic view is based upon the fact that so far as known the two big barriers to an agreement—indemnity and Sakhalin—remain as high and insurmountable as ever.

The real struggle is only postponed. The main problems are no nearer solution than when the plenipotentiaries met. The principal reason for optimism lies in the fact that, confronted with the absolute refusal of the Russian reply to admit the discussion of either indemnity or the cession of the island of Sakhalin the Japanese proposed to take up the consideration of the conditions seriatim. From this it is assumed that the Japanese are prepared to yield or have reason to believe a way will be found to overcome the objections of their adversaries when the crucial test comes.

An intimation comes from a high source that very strong outside influences are at work on both sides, and that for the moment the effort is to gain time. The plan of having Russia practically satisfy Japan's claim of reimbursement for the cost of the war by the purchase of the Japanese military evacuation of Sakhalin is to be advanced. Such a solution would permit Russia to say she had paid neither indemnity nor ceded a foot of territory.

The debate in Saturday's conference over the first condition—the recognition of Japan's "preponderating influence" over Korea. Involving her right to control the administration of the hermit kingdom, use the littoral for strategic purposes, etc., was of a remarkable character. Indeed, the position taken by Mr. Witte was sensational in the extreme. His attitude reveals plainly the Russian tactics. They propose to raise before the world the specter of the "yellow peril." Russia claims that Japan's present purpose is to get a foothold on the Asiatic continent from which to extend her influence and dominion.

Mr. Witte made no objection, but he declared words "preponderating influence" did not adequately describe what Japan proposed to do, and he insisted that the language used should show Japan's true purpose, which he contended was to make a Japanese province of Korea. To this argument Baron Komura dissented most vigorously, although in the most friendly manner, contending that Japan only sought to secure for herself in Korea the commercial and industrial position to which she was entitled and to aid in its civilization and development as well as to protect the kingdom from administrative anarchy.

OBJECTION OF MEMBERS

To Extra Session of Congress May Prevail With President.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Notwithstanding the more or less definite announcement which has emanated from various sources during the last few months, congress may not be called into extraordinary session next November. Indeed, the indications are now that no extraordinary session will be held this year.

This statement is made upon the authority of President Roosevelt himself. He has not decided the question definitely yet and probably will not reach a determination of it until he shall have returned to Washington the latter part of September. The chances of an extraordinary session appear, however, to be fading.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the president to induce him not to call an extra session. So much interest has been manifest in the subject throughout the country that the president has received a large number of letters regarding it. Many senators and representatives have urged against an extra session. They point out that practically nothing will be gained by an extra session that will begin not more than three weeks before the opening of the regular long session, and that it will cause some inconvenience to many members of congress in both branches. Taking these things into consideration, the president has reserved a definite decision of the matter, the chances, as noted, being that the session will not be called.

Last spring it was the president's idea to issue at the proper time a call for an extraordinary session of congress to be held in October for the purpose of enacting a possible railroad rate legislation. Incidentally it was expected that some recommendations might be made by the president regarding proposed changes in the existing tariff law.

The idea of an October session finally was abandoned, and subsequently the president made arrangements for a two weeks' trip through the South, beginning on the 17th of October. It was then announced that the proposed extraordinary session would not be held until after the November election.

DREAD FIGURES

Death List at New Orleans Daily
Growing Larger.

New Orleans, Aug. 14.—New cases yesterday, 50; total cases, 963; deaths yesterday, 12; total deaths, 154; new sublet, 14; total, 202; cases under treatment, 343.

The heavy increase in the number of cases which began four or five days ago is beginning to manifest itself in the death list, which can be expected to grow steadily for the next few days. The number of new cases Sunday seems small in comparison with Saturday's record, but it is really nineteen short, as that number of cases were turned in by an inspector just after the hour for closing the report at 6 o'clock. These will figure in today's report.

Dr. White says that if he could learn of every case in the city and apply the proper methods immediately he is confident that he could stamp out the disease here in a short time.

A HEAD-ON COLLISION

Passenger Train on the Nickel Plate
Road Runs in to a Freight Train
Near Vermillion, O.

Smoking Car Filled With Italian Laborers Was Crushed and Twelve
Were Killed.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—A fast east-bound passenger train on the Nickel Plate collided with a westbound freight train early Sunday at Kishman, Ohio, near Vermillion, resulting in the death of twelve persons, while at least twenty-five others were injured, eight of whom will probably die. The wreck, according to the officials of the company, was caused by a misunderstanding of orders or neglect to obey them on the part of the crew of the freight train.

Aside from the engineer the men killed on the passenger train were all riding in the smoking car at the head of the train and were foreign laborers in the employ of the Standard Oil company on their way from Ft. Seneca, O., to Brookfield, O., in charge of a foreman. Engineer C. C. Poole of the passenger train was killed at his post while trying to reach for the air-brake after seeing the headlight of the freight train. His fireman, Haefner, saved himself by jumping.

The high speed of the passenger train threw its locomotive and first three coaches over on the engine of the freight train, telescoping the smoker and the car following. The forward cars of the freight train were splintered to fragments.

Of the passengers in the smoker none escaped injury. Fortunately there was no fire, but the heavy timbers of the wrecked cars pinned down many and prevented them from getting out until assistance arrived. When the trains came together almost everybody in the smoker was dozing. The sudden jar hurled them out of their seats into the aisle and threw several persons to the roof and sides of the car, which seemed all at once to crush in like a paper bag, pinning down each passenger in the position in which he had been caught. The passengers in the second car escaped more easily, as there the violence of the impact was not so severe, although few got out without cuts, bruises, sprains or broken bones. The two rear cars were sleepers and they withstood the shock without suffering serious harm. No passengers in the sleepers were injured.

President Caniff of the Nickel Plate stated that from the information in the hands of officials, the freight train crew had orders to go on the siding at Kishman and there await the passage of the passenger train. Why this was not done in time to permit the passenger train to go by or a flagman sent out has not yet been learned. A rigid investigation is, however, being made by the railway officials.

It is said that the watch of the engineer of the freight train was slow and that the engineer believed he had eight minutes to get his train on the siding before the passenger train was due. The freight train had slackened speed and was about to back in on the siding from the main track when the passenger train came tearing along at the rate of forty-five miles an hour and dashed into it.

Two Trainmen Killed.

Toledo, O., Aug. 14.—Two Wheeling & Wabash freights collided head on near Fremont Sunday, and brakemen George Wells of Norwalk and George Peck of Toledo were killed. Failure of the westbound train to get orders to stop at Clyde is claimed to be responsible. The locomotives were badly wrecked and six cars were destroyed. Crews of both engines escaped by jumping.

Last fall Robbins was tried for embezzlement of the funds of the bank in the Whitley county circuit court and was found guilty and fined $800, which was paid. These nights are most to hot for the fox chasers so Mr. Fox has every thing his own way by taking the advantage. He is carrying away several good fries.

FIENDISH ATTACK

Aged Minister and His Wife Murderously Assaulted by Negro.

Ballston, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The Rev. Bernard Schulte and his wife, of New York, were attacked at Mechanicsville Saturday night and probably fatally injured by a negro, who was shot and killed in Saratoga Sunday while resisting arrest.

Mr. Schulte came to Mechanicsville recently to take charge of the Episcopal church during the absence of the rector in Europe. Early Saturday evening William Curtis, a negro, presented himself at the door of the rectory and asked for a drink of water. Mr. Schulte was in the act of turning to go back to get the water when the negro drew a piece of lead pipe from beneath his coat and felled the old clergyman with a terrific blow on the head, following this up with a rain of blows until his victim lay unconscious and apparently dead. Mrs. Schulte, who was upstairs, hurried down on hearing her husband fall and was met in the hall by the negro, who instantly struck her down, inflicting injuries from which she can hardly recover. The clergyman and his wife were discovered by neighbors and a search was made for the negro, who had been seen leaving the house.

Policeman James Sullivan discovered Curtis Sunday in a negro colony in Saratoga and arrested him. The negro broke away and ran, and after firing one shot in the air to halt him, Sullivan fired again, shooting him through the head, killing him instantly.

Revengeful Man's Crime.

Pittsburg, Aug. 14.—Louis Rosenbeck was fatally shot last night by Daniel Troy, who escaped. Rosenbeck has been foreman of the Country Club golf links for seven years, and last Monday discharged Troy for negligence. Last night while Rosenbeck and wife were out walking, Troy broke into their house and lay in waiting in the dining room. The moment the couple entered Troy fired a bullet into the abdomen of the unsuspecting man and fled.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorley, of New York, have purchased a large house and grounds at Claverack, N. Y., and have deeded it to the Free Industrial School for Crippled Children of their city.

TENSE SITUATION

Michigan City Factions Seriously Divided On Law Enforcement.

CARNIVAL THE ISSUE

Mayor and His Following Say the Carnival Shall Appear and Police Board Say No.

Public at First Siding With Board Now Switches to Mayor's Side.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 14.—The fight between the city authorities with the common council, Mayor Shultz and the board of public works on one side and Governor Hanly's new police board on the other, over the prospective appearance of a carnival company in this city this week continues with renewed vigor. The mayor and his following say the carnival shall appear, and the police board is standing pat on its assertion that they will cause the arrest of anyone who attempts to blockade streets with carnival tents. Public sentiment, which at first was with the police board, has switched and the people are now clamoring for the street show.

GRAND LODGE BUILDING

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—The contract for erecting the grand lodge Knights of Pythias building, Pennsylvania street and Massachusetts avenue, was awarded to John Peirce of Chicago, general contractor for the new federal building here. His bid was $400,000. The building will be twelve stories and one of the finest lodge properties in Indiana. The grand lodge will reserve two floors and the remainder will be for offices and business rooms. The building will have a fine location directly across the street from the new $3,000,000 postoffice.

PYTHIAN BUILDING AT INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Guardman Killed by Cars.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 14.—Charles Davis of Delphi, a member of Company L, Third regiment, Indiana national guard, was mysteriously killed on the Wabash railroad two miles east of the bridge over Wildcat creek, near here. Davis had been attending the encampment at Fort Benjamin Harrison and was on his way home. His rifle was shattered and lay thirty feet away. It is thought he missed his train in Indianapolis and is believed to have caught a later train to Logansport and then a westbound Wabash train for Delphi. Indications point to his having met his death by the bayonet of his rifle catching in a cattle guard and throwing him off the car on which he was riding, presumably a freight car.

Maimed by Traction Engine.

Remington, Ind., Aug. 14.—By the sudden starting of a traction engine the right arm of John Klause, a farmer living near here, was torn off at the elbow. The machine had stopped at dead center and when it started suddenly Klause, in attempting to save himself, caught his arm in the flywheel. The arm was literally ground to a pulp.

Declares His Innocence.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Aug. 14.—Harvey Haas, since his arrival here from Fruitdale, Ala., where he was arrested charged with looting the Darlington bank of $5,000, declares he did not know the bank had been robbed until after his arrest.

Charge Not Sustained.

Exansville, Ind., Aug. 14.—The Rev. Judson F. Ferguson, pastor of the "Do Right" church, and Mrs. Mattie Harris have been released from jail, the state failing to convict them of bigamy.

Buildings Wrecked by Storm.

Union City, Ind., Aug. 14.—A big windstorm here Saturday evening wrecked the Sullivan building, the Witham & Bowen Lumber company's building and Grimes's slaughter house.

Caught by Trolley Car.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 14.—A car on the Evansville & Princeton traction line killed William Hickrod at Fort Branch.

THE PEOPLE'S DUTY

Says Governor Hanly, Is to Enforce Laws Without Favor.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—Governor Hanly's law enforcement speech at Bethany Park is attracting a lot of attention because of the emphatic way in which he stated his position. "It may," he said, "take much time and great effort; it may involve a long and hard struggle; it may take some men out of politics, but if you—the people—stand by me we will enforce the laws regardless of consequences, enforce them always and among all classes of citizens without fear or favor." He was enthusiastically cheered, but he added that he would rather see more courage and fixed purpose to have laws enforced. He declared there has recently been an effort to raise an issue between himself and the law violators. "But there is no chance for such an issue," he continued, "for the issue is between the law violators and the law itself. I may be eliminated from the contest, but the issue will remain the same to confront public officials until the people, aroused by the prickings of an awakened conscience will arise and demand reform." The governor concluded that while he was no prophet, he felt that a great revival of civic and moral righteousness is coming throughout the country, and he praised the efforts of Polk, LaFollette, Douglass, Jerome and other reformers.

The old story about John K. Gowdy, consul general to Paris, becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor on his return to Indiana next winter and the possibility of conflicting interests between him and Congressman James E. Watson of Rushville, has gone the rounds again in Indiana during the past week. It has appeared at least once a month for the last year under a Washington date line. It is not believed by party leaders that Mr. Gowdy will become a candidate. They give him credit with being shrewd enough as a politician to see that a new set is in control and that he could not displace them to further his own candidacy. As far as conflicting with Congressman Watson is concerned, Mr. Gowdy is not a candidate for congress, and the former is not a candidate for governor, so it is difficult to see how they will cause each other any inconvenience by merely living in the same county. Mr. Gowdy, it is understood, intends to retire to his farm and lead a simple life.

The race for the Republican nomination for treasurer promises to be the principal attraction at the next Republican state convention. The large field of candidates is now working hard for success. Jonce Monahan of Orleans is probably doing more work than any of his opponents, as he is not only sending out hundreds of letters, but is touring the state. During the last few days the stock of Oscar Hadley of Danville seems to have gone up considerably among party leaders here. It is said that he is making an excellent impression throughout the entire state. He is being spoken of as the Quaker candidate, which may be catchy enough to help. His most influential backing, however, is among the members of the state board of agriculture, to which he has belonged for several years, and with the county fair associations, among which he is well and favorably known.

Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks are taking a vacation at Bar Harbor, Me., and will remain there for several days. The vice president is in excellent health, but it is understood that Mrs. Fairbanks is not so well as usual. The vice president has accepted invitations to speak in a dozen different states and will be very busy between now and the convening of congress next winter. It is likely that he and Mrs. Fairbanks will go to Washington at least a month before the session convenes.

Exports Take a Boom.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Statistics compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show that the exports of manufactures in the fiscal year just ended amounted to $543,629,297, as against $452,415,921 in the preceding year. The exports for the past fiscal year were "only" the largest on record, but are in excess of the combined exports of all articles in the centennial year 1876, and near $140,000,000 more than the total imports and exports of the country at the close of the civil war.

Landslide Destroyed Village.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 14.—Sunday afternoon a tremendous landslide came down about half a mile west of Spencer Bridge, near Ashcroft, B. C., sweeping the waters of the Thompson river over the entire Indian village, leaving nothing but wreck in its path. Fifteen Indians are reported missing and twelve injured. Doctors have been sent from Kamloops and Ashcroft.

An Intruder Slain.

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 14.—Norman Cook, a farm laborer, was caught by Mrs. Wesley Burkhardt in the Burkhardt home in this county, after dark, and was shot by the woman, who is now in jail.

No Cause Assigned.

Peru, Ind., Aug. 14.—John Birk, sixty-five, a farmer living two miles north of the city, took his life by shooting himself twice in the head. No cause is assigned.

CONSIDER THIS OUTING

To Famous Seashore Resorts, in Planning Your Vacation.

By far the most attractive trip for health and pleasure the coming vacation season is that offered by the Seashore excursion Thursday, August 17th, over Pennsylvania Lines to Atlantic City, Cape May and seven other famous summer havens on the Atlantic Coast.

The fast through trains over Pennsylvania Lines take passengers in a few hours out of the heat and humidity of summer to the cool breezes of old ocean. This mid-August excursion occurs in the season for rest when it is most convenient to leave business. Excursionists have the added pleasure of seeing Atlantic City when it is in full tide of the fashionable season. The greatest representative gatherings ever known at any resort are seen at Atlantic city. As many as 50,000 people at one time promenade the famous board walk. The fashionable bathing houses present an unparalleled scene—fully 100,000 bathers in the sea and on the beach.

The healthful effect of the seashore trip is due to salt and pine air. So beneficial has this proved that physicians send their patients there to get the benefit of breathing the pure ocean air.

Special low fares will be in effect for this Seashore excursion. Full information will be freely given by local ticket agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.

SEASHORE EXCURSION TRIP. 17th

Low Fares via Pennsylvania Lines to Atlantic City, Cape May and Eight Other Resorts.

For this excursion, tickets will be sold to nine of the most popular watering places on the Atlantic Coast, including Atlantic City, Cape May Anglenes, Avalon, Holly Beach, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Wildwood, all on the Jersey Coast, and Rehoboth, Delaware.

The round trip fare to any of the resorts named will be $14.50 from Rushville, Ind. Fares from other ticket stations on Pennsylvania Lines will be proportionally low.

Tickets will be good returning within twelve days, permitting more than a week's enjoyable stay at the seashore.

Excursion tickets include stop-over at Philadelphia on return trip, if deposited with ticket agent at Broad Street Station.

For full particulars about the excursion, special through train service and advance reservation of sleeping car berths, apply to J. W. Higgins, ticket agent Pennsylvania Lines, Rushville, Ind.

The will of the late Albert White has been probated in the circuit court. By its terms the widow, Mrs. Cynthia White, gets all the real estate and personal property including 120 acres of land in Ripley township, after all debts are paid. At her death the property is to be equally divided among the four children, Harvey White, Mrs. Anna Norris, Martha White and Mrs. Ella Moore. The will was made on October 19th, 1900, and was witnessed by William R. Walker and Leonidas Shields. Harvey White is named as executor.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was very much offended at the ceremonies attending the opening exercises of the Portland Exposition. The day was very warm and the aged statesman proceeded to mop his head with ice water provided at the speaker's stand. Mrs. Goode, wife of Pres. Goode of the association management, was highly shocked at "Uncle Joe's" disregard of "society manners" and sent an attendant to admonish him. It was with great difficulty that the distinguished speaker was prevailed upon to speak after this affront.

Slain and Eaten by Lions.
 Blackpool, Eng., Aug. 14.—Two lions, the property of the city, were found loose Sunday morning in the yard adjoining their cage, together with portions of the body of a workman. It appears that the man on the previous night made the boast that he would enter the lions' cage. Evidently in an attempt to carry out this boast he opened the cage. The animals escaped and killed him, gorging themselves on his body.

Squiers, has made to the government, there is renewed interest in the Rice bill, and it is now probable that the senate will obtain a quorum this week and vote on the bill.

WRESTLING MATCH POORLY ATTENDED

Ward Refuses to Meet Lewis and Young Travis is Substituted.

The wrestling match scheduled for the city opera house Saturday night was so poorly patronized that Ward, the Cleveland wrestler, refused to go on. The winner was to get all the money after all expenses were taken out. Lewis arrived here from Shelbyville on time and fully intended to wrestle but when Ward arrived the Cleveland man did not open his suit case, but balked and left at once. Some thirty or forty people had gathered to see the match but Ward "kicked" on the crowd.

Young Travis, of Indianapolis, was substituted in order to appease the crowd. Travis put up a good exhibition in spite of the fact that he went on the mat wholly without training for the match. Lewis won the first fall in ten minutes, Travis won the second fall in fifteen minutes and Lewis took the third in eight minutes.

Kid Hogan, of Indianapolis, and Kid Golding, of Columbus, Ohio, went four rounds to a draw in the preliminary boxing bout for points. "Jack" Sullivan of this city refereed the match.
